

CO. G MUSTERED INTO FEDERAL SERVICE BY INSPECTOR TUESDAY

SIX OF THE LOCAL MILITIA BOYS
FAILED TO PASS U. S.
EXAMINATION.

COMPANY FINEST AT ARSENAL

With 93 Men Enrolled It Is Also the Largest—Members Want Smoking Tobacco.

Company G, Sixth Regiment, I. N. G., is no longer merely a national guard company, but is a part of the regular U. S. Army. The company was mustered into the regular army yesterday at Rock Island.

Six Rejected.

Six members of the company failed to pass the physical test of the U. S. Army physicians and were returned to Dixon, arriving here early this morning. The boys who were unable to pass the physical examinations are: Leonard (Stub) Woodyatt, Morris (Chopple) Rosbrook, Joe Kinsky, Harry Davis, Stewart Spratt and Arthur Richardson.

Several other members of the company, whose examination papers are in Washington, may not be passed by the federal authorities, but they will not get a decision on the matter for a period of thirty days.

Boys Want Tobacco.

The returning soldiers say that the crying need of the members of Co. G is smoking tobacco. Also, any mother who has a boy down there can find no nicer thing to do than to bake a nice big cake and send it down. Government rations are wholesome, but a little home cooking would taste pretty good to the lads in camp.

Biggest Company.

Company G, with 93 men, is the biggest company of militia on Rock Island and has been complimented by reviewing officers as being the best body of men sent there by the state.

The boys in camp are very thankful for the supplies the Dixon Grocery company donated them. Chief Cook Jones is rated as "some cook" and the returning lads also have a good word for "Tuck" Nagle, who always wears a big, broad smile.

SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT IS BEATEN IN SENATE

BUT NINE SENATORS VOTED FOR RESOLUTION—HOUSE HAD KILLED IT.

(Associated Press)

Springfield, Apr. 11.—The resolution to provide a referendum on an amendment to the constitution to permit woman's suffrage was beaten in the state today. The resolution received only 9 votes to 6 against, 24 senators voting "present." The measure was supported by the Illinois Suffrage Amendment Alliance and was opposed by the Woman's Suffrage Association. Its duplicate was killed yesterday by the house committee.

The senate yesterday passed the Buck civil service bill exempting from classified service many state employees, and depriving discharged persons from right of trial except when religious or political prejudice is alleged.

The bill exempts from civil service all employees of the attorney general's office, capitol employees and those directly responsible to elective officers, including those in a position requiring exercise of personal judgment on any question. Among those who voted in favor of the bill were Chiffe, Dunlap and Turnbaugh.

Two Speedy Chicago Boats Will Be Submarine Chasers For Uncle Sam

(By United Press)

Chicago, Apr. 11.—Two submarine chasers, planned to be the speediest of their kind, are being constructed in Chicago and within a few days will be on their way to the Atlantic seaboard. For obvious reasons, the place of their construction and time of their departure is kept secret by their owners and the government. The boats, which their owners expect to be of inestimable service as submarine chasers, are the Disturber VI, owned by Commodore James A. Pugh and the Kanawha, owned by John Borden. The latter, which will carry four six pounders and two machine guns, is 225 feet long and has a gross tonnage of 475 tons. It has a speed of 25 miles an hour and carries a crew of 65 men. It was the first yacht to be offered to the government and is being remodeled under government supervision.

HUTTON GETS 30 DAYS IN JAIL

Sterling Man, Well Known In Dixon, Pleaded Guilty to Charge

Morrison, Apr. 10.—Lee Hutton of Sterling pleaded guilty to the illegal sale of liquor in anti-saloon territory before Judge Ramsay in circuit court this morning, to the first six of thirteen counts in indictments against him. Judge Ramsay sentenced him to thirty days in the county jail on the first count, with the other five counts hanging over him for future good behavior. The remaining seven counts were nolle prossed, on motion of the attorneys for the defendant. The defendant is also to pay all costs in the case. Hutton was taken at once to the county jail by the sheriff and he began serving his sentence.

MISS COLLIN RESIGNS HEAD OF HOSPITAL

WILL TAKE SUPERINTENDENCY OF BIG NEW JERSEY
INSTITUTION.

SUCCESSOR IS NOT CHOSEN

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital held Tuesday afternoon Miss Elizabeth Collin, for the past four and one-half years the efficient superintendent of the institution, tendered her resignation, news of which will be received with regret by many friends and patrons of the hospital. During her service as head of the hospital she has carried on the work excellently as shown by the steady increase in success which it has met since she took up her duties. Her work has been carried on in an intelligent and business-like manner.

Two weeks ago Miss Collin went east to attend the funeral of a friend, Miss Harries, who for 19 years had been at the head of Memorial hospital, Long Branch, N. J., and while there was offered, and accepted, the superintendency of the institution. This is a large hospital, with 150 beds and 35 nurses, and is in the eastern United States military zone. The hospital adjoins Shadow Lawn, the summer home of President Wilson. It was at this hospital that Miss Collin received her training and she was there for ten and one-half years. It is a decided compliment for her to be called back as the head of the institution.

Miss Moats was yesterday tendered the superintendency of the local hospital, but declined, as she expects to leave for her home in about a month. Miss Collin will remain at the Dixon institution for a month, in order that the board may fill the vacancy.

A letter from the Long Branch hospital offering Miss Collin the position as superintendent there arrived in Dixon shortly after she left to attend the funeral of her friend, but she was offered the place verbally when she arrived in that city.

SEVEN BILLIONS IN WAR FINANCE BILL

MEASURE WAS REPORTED TO HOUSE TODAY BY WAYS AND MEANS BODY.

TAKE NO NOTICE OF BRAZIL

German Press Pays But Little Attention to the South American Situation.

(Associated Press)
Washington, Apr. 11.—Unofficial advices from Brazil state that that country has decided to break with Germany and that the government of Argentina will support the United States. Reports from Amsterdam are to the effect that the German press, so far, has passed the South American situation almost without comment.

Montevideo dispatches state that Uruguay has issued a decree of neutrality in the war between the United States and Germany.

President Wilson went to the House of Representatives today for a conference with Speaker Clark and other leaders on the war program.

Authorizes Call.
A resolution authorizing the president to call for a million volunteers was introduced in the senate by Senator Sherman of Illinois and was laid on the table without debate at his request.

Report Financing Bill.
The war financing bill, providing for the issue of $5,000,000,000 in bonds and $2,000,000,000 in treasury notes, was unanimously reported for passage in the house today by the ways and means committee.

Following a discussion which extended throughout the day and in the course of which no partisan line of cleavage developed but Democrats and Republicans worked as members of the one great American party, the committee decided to report a bill authorizing the issuance of $5,000,000,000 worth of 3½ per cent twenty-year gold bonds and $2,000,000,000 worth of certificates of indebtedness bearing the same rate of interest but running only a single year.

$2,000,000,000 Out of Revenues.
It is the anticipation of Chairman Kitchen of the ways and means committee that the elimination of the indebtedness of $2,000,000,000 as evidenced in the proposed certificates will be taken up by taxation in the course of their year of life. This means that the committee must approximately double the present income of the federal treasury.

Of the $5,000,000,000 bond issue three billions will be devoted to the purchase of the government bonds of the Entente Allies. It is not believed that the bill authorizing the issue should specify which of the potential allies of the United States shall receive this stupendous credit or in what amounts it shall be allotted among the various belligerents arrayed against the common enemy. But it is known that by far the greatest fraction will be loaned to France, certainly one billion and probably one and one-half billion. Russia and Italy will receive also certain allotments. There will be no provision for the assumption of any part of Great Britain's credit at this juncture.

Kitchen Lines Up for Wilson Plan.
Chairman Claude Kitchen of the ways and means committee, returned to Washington. He sat with the committee for the first time since the declaration of war against the Imperial German government to which in the house he had voiced opposition. Chairman Kitchen, by his attendance on the committee, set at rest the allegations that his opposition to the declaration of war would be given further evidence through opposition to the bond issue.

At a meeting of the President's cabinet the distribution of the United States loan to the foreign governments was discussed. Word has been conveyed to the cabinet that the enactment of the bond issue bill was but the question of a few days of discussion and that its passage was assured.

This road is out of Dixon for a distance of 6,150 feet. No bids were received for Section D, to be built of brick for a distance of 3,500 feet out of Dixon.

Judge Carl Sheldon of city court of Sterling was a professional visitor here this morning, transacting business in the circuit court.

CONSERVE POTATOES IS CITIZEN'S DUTY

AUTHORITY TELLS HAMILTON
CLUB NATION-WIDE ACTION IS NECESSARY.

(Associated Press)
Chicago, Apr. 11.—The greatest patriotic duty of every American citizen is the conservation of the nation's supply of potatoes, Eugene Grubb, an authority on potatoes, told the Hamilton club today. Potatoes will enable Germany to prolong the war at least two years, said he. All seed potatoes on hand should be planted and housewives should cook tubers with their skins on, either boiling or baking them. In this way they will lose less than one per cent of the total food value of the potato. He asserted Germany has increased its annual production of potatoes to forty bushels per capita, against three and one-half bushels raised in the United States.

JESSE E. DYKEMAN DIED THIS MORNING

POPULAR YOUNG MAN VICTIM OF A COMPLICATION OF AILMENTS.

Jesse E. Dykeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dykeman of 1217 Walnut avenue, passed away at 7:10 o'clock this morning at the Dixon hospital, where he was taken five weeks ago for treatment. His death was due to a complication. Arrangements for the funeral could not be completed today, and will, therefore, be announced tomorrow.

The deceased was born in Amboy Oct. 19, 1886, coming to Dixon with his parents about 25 years ago. This city has been his home since that time. He received his education in the Dixon schools and for seven years prior to his last illness was a trusted and efficient employee of the Downing grocery. He is survived by his parents, a brother, Charles, of Rockford and a sister, Ethel, at home, to whom a large number of his sorrowing friends extend sincerest condolence.

SUPERVISORS MEET APRIL 25

Petition Asking Special Meeting for Organization Is Out.

In all probability the first meeting of the new board of supervisors, in which there will be but one new member, Andrew Richardson of Alto township, will be held Wednesday, April 25, as a petition asking the clerk to call the meeting for organization at that time is now being circulated. But little business aside from the election of a chairman and the appointment of committees will be done at the special meeting. Several candidates have entered the race for the chairmanship, which carries with it the chairmanship of the board of review, and a lively contest may be expected.

REVISED LIST GIVEN BLAST TOLL AT 132

MAJORITY OF THOSE KILLED AT EDDYTOWN YESTERDAY WERE GIRLS.

OPINIONS ON CAUSE DIFFER

Company Heads Believe It Act of An Enemy—Federal Attorney Thinks Not.

(Associated Press)
Chester, Pa., Apr. 11.—Revised lists of the fatalities in the explosion at the Eddytown Ammunition corporation yesterday place the dead at 132, the majority of whom were girls and young women, and the injured at between 125 and 150, at least ten of whom will die from their wounds.

Identification hampered.
The work of identifying the dead is hampered by the condition of the bodies and the loss of the time books of the company, which were destroyed in the fire which followed the explosion. It is believed some of the victims were blown into the Delaware river.

Opinions Differ.
Official opinion concerning the cause of the explosion is divided. The heads of the munitions company believe it was the act of some maliciously inclined person, but Federal Attorney Kane asserts there is nothing to indicate a German plot, and others are of the opinion the explosion was an accident.

Four investigations have been begun by federal, state, municipal and company authorities. Two suspects, a father and son, who reside in Philadelphia, and who are said to be aliens have been arrested. It is intimated they possess papers giving valuable information.

Suspect Plot in Elevator Blasts

Minneapolis, Apr. 11.—Bomb-plot investigations are under way by secret service agents, military authorities and the police, following a series of fires and explosions early in the day which destroyed two grain elevators, damaged two others, wrecked machinery in a manufacturing plant and menaced $5,000,000 worth of grain.

The loss was approximately $303,600.

Killed by Guardsman.
New York, Apr. 11.—Louis Feuerstein was shot and killed here by a national guardsman protecting the New York Central tracks in the upper part of the city. Feuerstein, according to witnesses, was shot after his failure to obey the guardsman's command to move away from the tracks.

POSTPONE Y BOWLING BANQUET

Date of Big Feed To Cubs Changed—
Members Desired It.

The Y. M. C. A. bowling committee had planned to have the banquet to the Cubs, who were victors in the last tournament, on Thursday of this week. This date had been chosen as the earliest one available owing to the absence of a number of the members of the Cub teams of this arrangement it developed that 10 out of the first 11 men seen preferred, for various reasons, to postpone the affair indefinitely. The committee takes it for granted that this opinion represents the attitude of the rest of the men not seen, therefore decided to call off this banquet.

U. S. OBTAINS LIST OF WAR BRIDEGROOMS

County Clerk at Chicago Curtails Slacker Facilities.

Chicago, Apr. 11.—Acting under orders from United States District Attorney Cline, federal agents working under Hinton G. Clabaugh, in charge of the bureau of investigation, secured the names of nearly 2,000 applicants for marriage licenses issued since war was declared with Germany. Just what action the government will take in regard to the "war marriages" was not divulged.

Obstacles filled the path of wedding-license seekers at the county building. County Clerk Robert M. Switzer, disgusted over the apparent rush of men to the marriage license bureau to avoid army service, withdrew all extra clerks from that department, leaving only the regular quota of four clerks to handle applications. As a result, hundreds of applicants were forced to wait in line for hours to obtain their permits.

Mrs. George Lenox, who is suffering from a badly lacerated arm, the result of the attack of a mad cow which invaded the back porch of the Lenox home, is little better.

Lee Dysart came out from Chicago Monday with a string of Ford cars.

Vrooman Says Every American Woman Should Know And Use Whole Wheat

By Carl Vrooman
Assistant Secretary of Agriculture,
Member National Emergency Food
Garden Commission

(Written for the United Press)
Washington, Apr. 11.—The whole wheat which can be bought in the grain at seed stores is one of the best all around cheap and nutritious foods in the country. Every American home should keep a supply of whole wheat. When soaked for several hours and cooked an equal length of time it furnishes a delicious breakfast food, and ground in a hand grist mill which can be bought for three or four dollars, it is equally palatable when made into bread or used as a cereal.

It has been estimated that whole wheat, cooked over night in a fireless cooker, or cooked all day on the back of the kitchen range, makes a cereal costing 1-16 the price of some of the patent commercial breakfast foods, and also furnishes fully equal nourishment.

Whole wheat may be cooked with-

SAYS ARRAS BATTLE MAY BE DECISIVE IN EUROPEAN STRUGGLE

BERLIN MILITARY CRITIC ALSO THINKS ALLIES HAVE BEEN TRICKED.

BRITISH KEEP POUNDING AWAY

Take Villages and Heights At Monchy

Elsewhere.

BULLETIN.
(Associated Press)

Ottawa, Apr. 11.—The Stars and Stripes went into battle for the first time in the world war during the recent entente storming of Vimy Ridge in France, according to an unofficial dispatch received from the Canadian Army headquarters in Europe. To a young Texan who came to Ontario to enlist and who is now lying wounded in a hospital belongs the honor of first carrying the American flag into battle. The dispatch adds that he carried the Stars and Stripes on his bayonet and fell thus.

Berlin, Apr. 11.—The military critic of the Vossische Zeitung considers the battle of Arras, now in progress, will prove the decisive battle of the war, and gives it as his opinion that the course operations has taken was not desired by the hostile command. London, Apr. 11.—The British have captured the village and heights at Monchy-le-Preux and the village LaBergers. They have also made satisfactory progress at other parts of the battle front.

London, April 11.—In the face of heavy snowstorms and in places strong resistance by the Germans, the British have pushed their lines as far as Monchy-le-Preux, five miles east of Arras, and made further important gains on Vimy Ridge.

The official statement from British headquarters describing the operations now in progress on the Arras-Lens line, reports the capture of 11,000 prisoners, including 235 officers, more than 100 guns, with heavy guns up to eight inches, sixty trench mortars and 163 machine guns.

London, April 11.—Inferno is loose on the west front; a thousandfold more hellish than that which Dante visualized—yet, it is but the prelude to the twentieth century battle, the last bloody word in the world war, in which Britons and Teutons are grappling for victory—and peace.

Upon a fifty-mile front—from Lens down to the gates of St. Quentin—they are locked in the supreme struggle for mastery. As dusk settled upon the battlefield the British, after thirty-six hours of steady smashing ahead, were still the masters of the initiative, were still victoriously rushing on in ceaseless storming waves, ripping wider and wider gashes in the Teuton wall of steel and iron. In the fore are still the Canadians, heroes of Vimy Ridge, the capture of which made possible the "big push" now under way.

Hindenburg Must Show Hand.
But everywhere the Teuton backbone is being stiffened by endless columns of reserves rushed to the endangered lines. "They did not break through," the German war office announced in the afternoon, though admitting heavy losses to two divisions—40,000 men. But Sir Douglas Haig is determined to break through. The crisis is at hand. Hindenburg's strategy is still playing a waiting game. Within the next forty-eight hours he must show his hand.

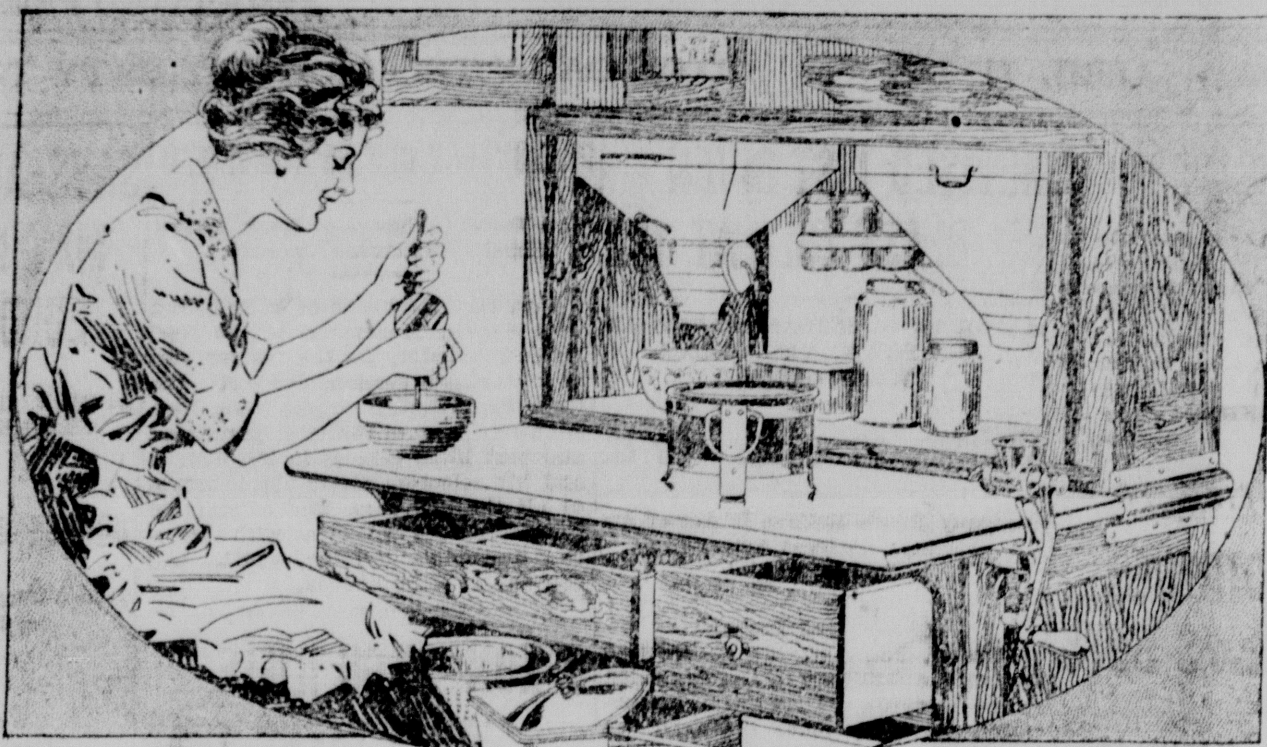

More than 9,000 prisoners; more than forty guns were the captures counted up to 11:50 in the morning, briefly announced in the British headquarters' statement. By night, it is estimated, more than 12,000 prisoners and nearly 100 guns will be recorded, the figures covering the operations since the British drive began at dawn Monday.

out cracking or grinding, but it requires many hours in a double boiler to cook thoroughly. Whole wheat ground in a hand grist mill should be cooked at least three hours over the fire or all night in a fireless cooker. To have the best flavor it should not be too moist. The longer it is cooked the better. It is possible to cook up enough for several days and warm it over as desired.

The Bureau of Chemistry has worked out a recipe for bread made primarily from home ground meal. Two cupfuls of wheat meal; 1 cupful of white flour, 1-4 cupfuls of lukewarm water, 1-2 cake of compressed yeast, 1 level tablespoonful of salt, 1 level tablespoonful of sugar and 1 level tablespoonful of shortening, if desired, is the formula. Dough of this kind has only 2-3 of the usual rise of white bread. It should be baked slowly for 2-4 of an hour.

Every American woman should know and use whole wheat.

Dept. Of Agriculture

PEAS, BEANS AND BEETS.

Washington, D. C., Apr. 11.—Garden peas are a favorite crop in the home garden, and as they are not easily injured by light frosts, they may be planted as soon as the soil can be put in order in the spring, according to the specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. By selecting a number of varieties it is possible to have a continuous supply of peas during a large portion of the growing season. In order to accomplish this, plantings should be made every 10 days or two weeks until warm weather comes. The first plantings should be of small growing, quick maturing varieties such as Alaska, First and Best, and Gradus. These kinds do not require supports. They should be followed by the large wrinkled type of peas such as Champion of England, Telephone and Prize Taker. These may be supported on brush, on string attached to stakes driven in the earth or on wire netting.

Peas should be planted about 2 to 3 inches deep in rows 3 to 4 feet apart. Some gardeners, however, follow the practice of planting in double rows 6 inches apart, with the ordinary space of 3 to 4 feet between these supports can be placed in the narrow space between the rows.

Beans are more susceptible to cold than peas and should not be planted until danger of frost is past and the ground begins to warm up. They are, however, among the most desirable early vegetables that the home gardener can raise. There are many different kinds and varieties of beans, but for garden purposes they can be divided into two classes—string and Lima.

Both classes are grown commercially over the greater part of the east and adapt themselves to a wide diversity of soils and climates. They grow rapidly and, therefore, leave the area in which they have been planted for another crop. To secure a continuous supply, it is desirable to make plantings at intervals of 10 days or two weeks from the time that the ground is reasonably warm until hot weather sets in.

Both string and Lima beans are subdivided into pole and bush types. The pole Lima bean should be planted with from 8 to 10 seeds in a hill and after the plants become established should be thinned to 3 or 4. The hills should be 4 or 5 feet apart in rows 30 to 36 inches apart. Bush beans of the string type may be planted somewhat closer—the plants to stand 3 or 4 inches apart in rows from 20 to 24 inches apart if hand cultivation is to be employed.

Beans of any kind should not be planted any deeper than is necessary to secure good germination. This should never be over 2 inches and on heavy soil it should not be more than 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 inches.

Beets can be planted comparatively early in the season. It is not necessary to wait until the ground has become warm. If the danger of frost is past, the seed should be sown in drills 14 to 18 inches apart and covered to a depth of about 1 inch. As vegetables that the home gardener soon as the plants are well up they should be thinned to stand 3 to 4 inches apart. From 2 to 3 plantings can be made in order to secure a continuous supply of young, tender beets.

INTOLERANCE.

The announcement that Dixon is soon to get a view of "Intolerance," the second and super-masterpiece of that modern wizard, D. W. Griffith, will be hailed with delight by all lovers of the beautiful and artistic as well as those who get keen enjoyment from thrills and spectacles.

It will be many years before "The Birth of a Nation" is forgotten. Therefore, it is now unusual that the entire country is figuratively at fever pitch over the second production of this genius of the newest form of drama. When Griffith made his tremendous success with "The Birth of a Nation" many claimed he could not duplicate the feat. "Intolerance" not only makes his first production seem small and old-fashioned, but it has been smashing former box office records right and left.

"Intolerance," as nearly everybody has been told or read, tells the story of the struggle of love throughout the ages. Four great periods of the world's history, ancient Babylon at the height of its glory; Judea at the time of Christ; Medieval France during the French revolution; and America today, are woven together in a monster four-theme story. Never in the history of drama has such a colossal undertaking ever been imagined.

When "Intolerance" comes to the opera house on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 19, 20 and 21, it will be presented in every detail exactly as it is now being presented at the Colonial theatre in Chicago, in St. Louis, in Philadelphia and as it was for six months at the Liberty theatre in New York. Not a detail will be lacking. There will be a large and well trained symphony orchestra, a chorus of singers, and the many startling back stage effects and innovations which help to make this production the greatest yet produced.

PRINCESS THEATRE

Tonight the Princess theatre will present Winnifred Greenwood and Ed Cohan in a powerful love tragedy, "A Woman's Darling." Distinctly unusual drama of the screen is presented in A Woman's Darling, a five part feature production from the Santa Barbara studios of the American Film Co., Inc. released by the Mutual Film Corporation.

OPERA HOUSE, MONDAY NIGHT
Billy Sunday, having become a national institution like Barnum, Bryan, Roosevelt and Henry Ford, it only remained to put him on the stage.

And Mr. Cohan has done it. In "Hit-the-Trail Holiday" George M. Cohan has turned out the sure-fire comedy hit of the season. The play abounds in the every day humor that permeates American life. It is filled with the fun of the street, and the office, and has repeated instances of the give-and-take of the average folk. Suggested by George Middleton and Guy Bolton, "Hit-the-Trail Holiday" is nevertheless a half brother of "Broadway Jones," a full cousin of "Get-Rich-Quick-Wallford" and a d he knows the value of "It Pays to Advertise."

Instead of a ball player like Sunday, "Billy" Holliday is a bartender, a fact which helps to make his profession as a lecturer on temperance most entertaining. In the Cohan-Middleton-Bolton comedy he discovers his ability as a lecturer by accident, but that discovery and the subsequent developments make a clever bright, sparkling play.

Frank Otto and Lola Merrill are the Cohan and Harris "finds" at the head of the representative Cohan and Harris cast. They are returning from a triumphal tour of the Pacific Coast, supported by Arthur V. Gibson, Harry Hubbard, Howard Hull Gibson, Franklin Hall, Daniel A. Anderson, Chauncey Causeland, Louis Eagan, Sam J. Burton, Ben Sweeney, John Daley, E. N. Lewis, Bert Sammis, Mildred Beverley and Jo Robinson Hayward. At Opera House next Monday night.

Look beyond the cost price when you buy a refrigerator

A refrigerator has more than one price. The price you pay is only the beginning of expense. The ICE cost is the BIG cost that will equal or exceed the first cost every year if you buy a cheap, ice-eating refrigerator.

IT PAYS TO PAY THE PRICE OF THE

AUTOMATIC REFRIGERATOR

For it is so well built, with its eight honest-built walls, and it is so saving of your ice that it pays the additional cost over a cheap refrigerator the very first season. At the same time it keeps food so much tastier. Its automatic circulation prevents flavors mixing. Its built-in water cooler insures a plentiful supply of ice cold water at all times, without a penny's extra ice cost.

If you don't investigate the Automatic before you buy, you'll regret it. We're glad to show it, without obligation.

Red Cross Calls Volunteers
Rally to the call for service—join the ranks of earnest men and women who compose the local chapter of the Red Cross Society. Evince to the world that your blood runs as warm and as red as any, and enter the chapter for work that your country needs. The work done by the chapter is no child's play, no frothy frivolity of society folk, but the work of women who prepare for the inevitable—the needs of the injured, whether of battlefield or of great disaster. On the eve of war we must look forward to what may be awful realities, and not sit and dream of bloodless victories. The price of membership is but a bagatelle and he work awaits you.

The chapter now numbers seventy-five—it can use every man and woman in Dixon; men to finance and assist in many ways; women to roll the bandages. Many of the men and women have evinced their interest by generously subscribing to the upkeep of the chapter—with prices as they are, supplies for the Red Cross work are not among the cheapest of materials. The members of the chapter expect soon to make a subscription canvass of the city—meet them with ready generosity. You may be furnishing the supplies that may save your own son from death at the front, who knows?

A box of completed supplies, all ready to be sent to Chicago, may be inspected in the Red Cross shop at the Court House. A good many of the women and men of Dixon have already visited the shop for this purpose and all are welcome. At a meeting yesterday Warren C. Durkes was made permanent treasurer. Miss Neva McClary held the office temporarily. Those who wish to subscribe may either visit the shop, see Miss McClary, or Mr. Durkes.

BATTLE HYMN OF THE REPUBLIC.

Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord;
He is tramping out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stored;
He hath loosed the fateful lightning of His terrible quick sword;
His truth is marching on.

I have seen him in the watchfires of a hundred circling camps;
They have builded Him an altar in the evening dews and damps;
I have read His righteous sentence by the dim and flaring lamps;
His day is marching on.

I have read a fiery gospel writ in burnished rows of steel;
"As ye deal with My contemners, so with you My grace shall deal;"
Let the hero, born of woman, crush the serpent with His heel, Since God is marching on.

He has sounded forth the trumpet that shall never call retreat;
He is sifting out the hearts of men before His judgment seat.
Oh, be swift, my soul, to answer Him! Be jubilant my feet!
Our God is marching on.

In the beauty of the lilies Christ was born across the sea,
With a glory in His bosom that transfigures you and me;
As He died to make men holy, let us die to make men free, While God is marching on.

—JULIA WARD HOWE

A GLIMPSE OF AUSTRIA.

The dearth of information about internal conditions in Austria, repeatedly remarked in this country, gives additional meaning to the facts reported by a Chicago resident who is just home from that country after three and a half years' residence there in pursuit of musical advantages. Milan Lusk is the citizen, he having spent the time mentioned as a pupil of Sevcik on the violin. He describes the famine as acute.

This information of chief value relates to the conditions in public sentiment. The Kaiser is said to have lost his popularity in Austria, while bitterness toward Germany is growing. According to this informant many of the Austrians are quite prepared to have the allies win. The entrance of the United States in the war was welcomed in the belief that it would shorten the war. During the American presidential campaign they hoped to see Hughes win, in the belief that Wilson would not permit the United States to enter the war. Obviously the foregoing information does not speak for all Austrians, but that it does for part of them is a moral factor of some consequence. He confirms the previous understanding that in Bohemia the feeling against the Germans is strong.

Both Austrians and Germans are bitter against the United States, according to the word brought by this arrival from Vienna. He was detained in prison 22 days on leaving, although the past year he had given 50 concerts in the interest of the Austrian Red Cross.

The desire for peace among the troops and people of the central powers is not new to American intelligence, but the growth of feeling between the Austrian and German public is. It is of some moment here as reflecting internal political conditions which must be taken into account by the government of Austria.

WOMEN'S CLUBS AND CONSERVATION.

One of the big things women's clubs throughout the country have been doing is cleaning up and beautifying their communities. We find them fighting billboard nuisances, organizing movements for attractive and clean back yards and supporting every effort for making their towns more pleasant and wholesome places to live in.

The Federated Women's Clubs of Iowa are fulfilling this mission on a large scale for the beauty spots of their state. They have started a campaign for the conservation of the natural scenery of Iowa. It is to be their big work for 1917.

The federation numbers 19,000 members. Through them and associated clubs the campaign will be carried into every town and city of the state.

Leaders have been put in each of the 11 congressional districts of Iowa. They form a committee whose work will be to study the natural scenery of the state, to arouse sentiment for the conservation of the beauty already there and to urge the establishment of recreation parks. Roadsides will be beautified. Waste land along the important motor highways will be converted into attractive landscape and resting places.

Most of us approve of such work. We want our community, our state and our country to be beautiful. But we need to be pushed a little before we do anything about it. More power to the women's clubs that are doing the pushing.—Freeport Standard.

The Kaiserhof Hotel in Chicago has changed its name to the "Atlantic." The change will do it good.

Chalmers 7-Passenger Touring Car—Price $1350 Detroit

Chalmers Sets New Mark In Flexibility and Economy

Speed is a matter of state and city laws—not of motors. Why, then, pay for racing or semi-racing machines which fret and fume at legal limits? Why is not the car of wide flexibility and moderate top speed the sensible car to buy? In Chicago, during the 24 hours from noon March 26 to noon March 27 a Chalmers 7-passenger stock touring car set a new mark for flexibility and economy. It traversed the dense "loop" traffic of Chicago, using high gear only, without stop of motor, attained a total of 586.8 miles and reeled off 14 miles to every gallon of gas. The Contest Board of the A. A. A. certifies to these facts.

Here is a car capable of highest sane speed. That operated perfectly on high gear even from a standing start at a traffic officer's signal. That ran like a watch for 24 hours and could have run an indefinitely longer time. That made the startlingly economical figure of 14 miles to the gallon of gas. That was in as perfect condition at the end of this grind as at the beginning. Had there been hills to climb it would have shown equal capacity there. And this car can be bought for a price several hundred dollars less than others that have shown no such flexibility or city economy.

Would you care for such a car? You can have its twin brother. You are invited to call and ride in the car.

We Are Getting Ready Are You?

The time when you should commence using OUR ICE regularly is about here, and we are working hard to get our delivery system in tip-top shape. We are after a new high record for efficiency this season.

Are you getting ready, too? Here are some things you should do before our wagons come if you wish to get the best results from OUR ICE.

FIRST, TAKE A LOOK AT YOUR REFRIGERATOR. If it needs "fixing," have it repaired at once, provided it is a good refrigerator and large enough for your needs. If you found it too small last season, trade it off or exchange it immediately for one that has enough capacity to be a real saver and not an ice-eating aggravation.

SECOND, RESOLVE TO BEGIN THE SEASON WITH OUR COUPON BOOK, and to continue using it as long as you take ice. This book will save you quite a lot on the ice bill and a good deal more in worry. It cannot be lost easily, like small change, and it protects you from the discomfort of handling wet, dirty change. Always buy the book with the coupon that covers your usual taking of ice.

THIRD, RESOLVE TO COMPLAIN DIRECTLY TO US if any thing goes wrong with our service to you. We will be much more interested in hearing about it than any outsider could possibly be, and it will have our immediate attention. By acting on these suggestions you will start the season right and help us to keep right with you all the way through.

WILCOX & WHITE order 2,000
Janssen Pianos

FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE JANSSEN-ANGELUS

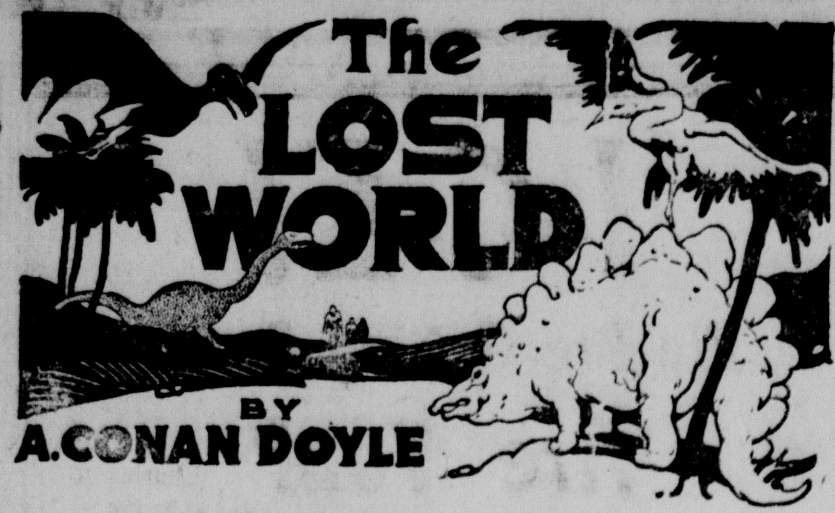

POSSIBLY one of the largest orders ever placed on pianos in the history of the piano trade was consummated several days ago between the Wilcox & White Co. and B. H. Janssen, the well-known manufacturer of the JANSSEN piano. The order was for two thousand (2,000) JANSSEN pianos, and was the result of the first pianos received by the Wilcox & White Co. from Mr. Janssen under a previous arrangement, notice of which appeared in "The Music Trades" some months ago. These pianos were found to be so satisfactory that the order for two thousand was the result. This is a great compliment to Mr. Janssen and incidentally shows the tremendous business being done by the Wilcox & White Co. and the progressive manner in which they conduct their affairs.

If the largest and most progressive piano player concern in the trade can give an order for 2,000 JANSSEN Pianos at one clip and repeat order, it shows that they have found out that the BEST HIGH-GRADE PIANO AT A MODERATE PRICE IS MADE BY BEN. H. JANSSEN

SYNOPSIS

EDWARD MALONE, newspaper man, is in love with Gladys Huntington. She tells him the man she loves must do some brave act. Malone gets an assignment to interview Professor Challenger, explorer.

When Challenger and Malone meet Challenger proclaims Malone an impostor, and they have a fierce personal encounter.

Challenger expresses a liking for Malone when the latter refuses to have him arrested. The professor then proceeds to show Malone proofs of a prehistoric land.

CHAPTER IV.

Challenger's Proofs.

"WELL, what do you think of that?" cried the professor, rubbing his hands with an air of triumph.

"It is monstrous—grotesque!"

"But what made him draw such an animal?"

"Trade gin, I should think."

"Oh, that's the best explanation you can give, is it?"

"Well, sir, what is yours?"

"The obvious one that the creature exists. That is actually sketched from the life."

I should have laughed only that I had a vision of our doing another Catherine wheel down the passage.

"Look here!" he cried, leaning forward and dabbling a great hairy sausage of a finger on to the picture.

"You see that plant behind the animal? I suppose you thought it was a dandelion or a brussels sprout—what? Well, it is a vegetable ivory plant, and they run to about fifty or sixty feet. Don't you see that the man is put in for a purpose? He couldn't really have stood in front of that brute and lived to draw it. He sketched himself in to give a scale of heights. He was, we will say, over five feet high. The tree is ten times bigger, which is what one would expect."

"Good heavens!" I cried. "Then you think the beast was—why, Charing Cross station would hardly make a kernel for such a brute!"

"Apart from exaggeration, he is certainly a well grown specimen," said the professor complacently.

"But," I cried, "surely the whole experience of the human race is not to be set aside on account of a single sketch?"—I had turned over the leaves and ascertained that there was nothing more in the book—"a single sketch by a wandering American artist, who may have done it under hashish or in the delirium of fever or simply in order to gratify a freakish imagination. You can't, as a man of science, defend such a position as that."

For answer the professor took a book down from a shelf.

"This is an excellent monograph by my gifted friend, Ray Lankester," said he. "There is an illustration here which would interest you. Ah, yes, here it is! The inscription beneath it runs: 'Probable appearance in life of the Jurassic Dinosaur Stegosaurus. The hind leg alone is twice as tall as a full grown man.' Well, what do you make of that?"

He handed me the open book. I started as I looked at the picture. In this reconstructed animal of a dead world there was certainly a very great resemblance to the sketch of the unknown artist.

"That is certainly remarkable," I said.

"But you won't admit that it is final?"

"Surely it might be a coincidence, or this American may have seen a picture of the kind and carried it in his memory. It would be likely to recur to a man in a delirium."

"Very good," said the professor indulgently. "We leave it at that. I will now ask you to look at this bone."

He handed over the one which he had already described as part of the dead man's possessions. It was about six inches long and thicker than my thumb, with some indications of dried cartilage at one end of it.

"To what known creature does that bone belong?" asked the professor.

I examined it with care and tried to recall some half forgotten knowledge.

"It might be a very thick human collar bone," I said.

My companion waved his hand in contemptuous deprecation.

"The human collar bone is curved. This is straight. There is a groove upon its surface, showing that a great tendon played across it, which could not be the case with a clavicle."

"Then I must confess that I don't know what it is."

"You need not be ashamed to expose your ignorance, for I don't suppose the whole South Kensington staff could give a name to it." He took a little bone the size of a bean out of a pill box.

"So far as I am a judge this human bone is the analogue of the one which you hold in your hand. That will give you some idea of the size of the creature. You will observe from the cartilage that this is no fossil specimen, but recent. What do you say to that?"

"Surely in an elephant!"

He winced as if in pain.

"Don't! Don't talk of elephants in South America. Even in these days of board schools—"

"Well," I interrupted, "any large South American animal—a tapir, for example."

"Don't you see that the man is put in for a purpose?"

"You may take it, young man, that I am versed in the elements of my business. This is not a conceivable bone either of a tapir or of any other creature known to zoology. It belongs to a very large, a very strong and, by all analogy, a very fierce animal which exists upon the face of the earth, but has not yet come under the notice of science. You are still unconvinced?"

"I am at least deeply interested."

"Then your case is not hopeless. I feel that there is reason lurking in you somewhere, so we will patiently grope round for it."

"We will now leave the dead American and proceed with my narrative. You can imagine that I could hardly come away from the Amazon without probing deeper into the matter. There were indications as to the direction from which the dead traveler had come. Indian legends would alone have been my guide, for I found that rumors of a strange land were common among all the riverine tribes. It was my business to find out more."

"What did you do?" My diffidence was all gone. This massive man compelled one's attention and respect.

"I overcame the extreme reluctance of the natives—a reluctance which extends even to talk upon the subject—and by judicious persuasion and gifts, aided, I will admit, by some threats of coercion, I got two of them to act as guides. After many adventures which I need not describe, and after traveling a distance which I will not mention, in a direction which I withhold, we came at last to a tract of country which has never been described nor, indeed, visited save by my unfortunate predecessor. Would you kindly look at this?"

He handed me a photograph, half plate size.

"The unsatisfactory appearance of it is due to the fact," said he, "that on descending the river the boat was upset and the case which contained the undeveloped films was broken, with disastrous results. Nearly all of them were totally ruined—an irreparable loss. This is one of the few which partially escaped."

The photograph was certainly very off colored. An unkind critic might easily have misinterpreted that dim surface. It was a dull gray landscape, and as I gradually deciphered the details of it I realized that it represented a long and enormously high line of cliffs exactly like an immense catarract seen in the distance, with a sloping, tree clad plain in the foreground.

"I believe it is the same place as the painted picture," said I.

"It is the same place," the professor answered. "I found traces of the fellow's camp. Now look at this."

It was a nearer view of the same scene, though the photograph was extremely defective. I could distinctly see an isolated, tree crowned pinnacle of rock which was detached from the crag.

"I have no doubt of it at all," said I.

"Well, that is something gained," said he. "We progress, do we not? Now, will you please look at the top of that rocky pinnacle? Do you observe something there?"

"An enormous tree."

"But on the tree?"

"A large bird," said I.

He handed me a lens.

"Yes," I said, peering through it, "a large bird stands on the tree. It appears to have a considerable beak. I should say it was a pelican."

"I cannot congratulate you upon your eyesight," said the professor. "It is not a pelican, nor, indeed, is it a bird. It may interest you to know that I succeeded in shooting that particular specimen. It was the only absolute proof of my experiences which I was able to bring away with me."

"A monstrous bat!" I suggested.

"Nothing of the sort," said the professor severely. "Living, as I do, in an educated and scientific atmosphere, I could not have conceived that the first principles of zoology were so little known. Is it possible that you do not know the elementary fact in comparative anatomy that the wing of a bird is really the forearm, while the wing of a bat consists of three elongated fingers with membranes between? Now, in this case the bone is certainly not the forearm, and you can see for yourself that this is a single membrane hanging upon a single bone and therefore that it cannot belong to a bat. But, if it is neither bird nor bat, what is it?"

My small stock of knowledge was exhausted.

"I really do not know," said I.

He opened the standard work to which he had already referred me.

"Here," said he, pointing to the picture of an extraordinary flying monster, "is an excellent reproduction of the dimorphodon, or pterodactyl, a flying reptile of the Jurassic period. On the next page is a diagram of the mechanism of its wing. Kindly compare it with the specimen in your hand."

A wave of amazement passed over me as I looked. I was convinced. There could be no getting away from it. The cumulative proof was overwhelming. The sketch, the photographs, the narrative and now the actual specimen—the evidence was complete. I said so—I said so warmly, for I felt that the professor was an ill used man. He leaned back in his chair with drooping eyelids and a tolerant smile, basking in this sudden gleam of sunshine. He purred with satisfaction.

"And then, sir, what did you do next?"

"It was the wet season, Mr. Malone, and my stores were exhausted. I explored some portion of this huge cliff, but I was unable to find any way to scale it. The pyramidical rock upon which I saw and shot the pterodactyl was more accessible. Being something of a cragsman, I did manage to get halfway to the top of that. From that height I had a better idea of the plateau upon the top of the crags. It appeared to be very large. Neither to east nor to west could I see any end to the vista of green capped cliffs. Below it is a swampy, jungle region, full of snakes, insects and fever. It is a natural protection to this singular country."

"Did you see any other trace of life?"

"No, sir, I did not, but during the week that we lay encamped at the base of the cliff we heard some very strange noises from above."

"But the creature that the American drew—how do you account for that?"

"We can only suppose that he must have made his way to the summit and seen it there. We know, therefore, that there is a way up. We know equally that it must be a very difficult one; otherwise the creatures would have come down and overrun the surrounding country. Surely that is clear."

"But how did they come to be there?"

"I do not think that the problem is a very obscure one," said the professor. "There can only be one explanation. South America is, as you may have heard, a granite continent. At this single point in the interior there has been, in some far distant age, a great sudden volcanic upheaval. These cliffs, I may remark, are basaltic and therefore plutonic. An area as large perhaps as Sussex has been lifted up en bloc with all its living contents and cut off by perpendicular precipices of a hardness which defies erosion from all the rest of the continent. What is the result? Why, the ordinary laws of nature are suspended. The various checks which influence the struggle for existence in the world at large are all neutralized or altered. Creatures survive which would otherwise disappear. You will observe that both the pterodactyl and the stegosaurus are Jurassic and therefore of a great age in the order of life. They have been artificially conserved by those strange accidental conditions."

"But surely your evidence is conclusive. You have only to lay it before the proper authorities."

"So in my simplicity I had imagined," said the professor bitterly. "I can only tell you that it was not so."

that I was met at every turn by incredulity, born partly of stupidity and partly of jealousy."

"My wife has frequently remonstrated with me upon my violence, and yet I fancy that any man of honor would feel the same. Tonight, however, I propose to give an extreme example of the control of the will over the emotions. I invite you to be present at the exhibition." He handed me a card from his desk. "You perceive that Percival Waldron, a naturalist of some popular repute, is announced to lecture at 8:30 at the Zoological Institute hall upon 'The Record of the Ages.' I have been specially invited to be present upon the platform and to move a vote of thanks to the lecturer. While doing so I shall make it my business, with infinite tact and delicacy, to throw out a few remarks which may arouse the interest of the audience and cause some of them to desire to go more deeply into the matter. Nothing contentious, you understand, but only an indication that there are greater depths beyond. I shall hold myself strongly in leash and see whether by this self restraint I attain a more favorable result."

"And I may come?" I asked eagerly.

"By all means come. It will be a comfort to me to know that I have one ally in the hall, however inefficient and ignorant of the subject he may be."

"But Mr. McArdie, my news editor, you know, will want to know what I have done."

"Tell him what you like. You can say, among other things, that if he sends any one else to intrude upon me I shall call upon him with a riding whip. But I leave it to you that nothing of all this appears in print. Very good. Then the Zoological Institute hall at 8:30 tonight." I had a last impression of red cheeks, blue rippling beard and intolerant eyes as he waved me out of the room.

Lost Food.

Do you get lost in the shrubbery at the dinner table?

We do, frequently. And sometimes we have to hunt around under sprays of celery and sprigs of watercress for hours before we find anything to eat.

And isn't it awful to try to carve a roast they've backed up against a hot animal garden in the middle of the board?

Women ought to be called off on this garnishing habit before they go too far. One of these days they'll be wanting to decorate us with wreaths and daisy chains when we go to the table.

We prefer our food served like our funeral, sans floral offerings.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who
Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast, fast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nervous wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists who should see a virile, optimistic throbing of rosy-checked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening, and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to continue the blood while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

DISCARDING INFERTILE EGGS

System Gives Rest of Incubator Hatch
 a Better Opportunity.

Infertile eggs should be removed from the incubator not later than the eighth day, to give the fertile eggs a better chance to develop evenly. Life inside of an egg shell develops some heat when in process of incubation, but an infertile egg absorbs the heat without giving off any.

An infertile egg which touches one containing a developing chick will reduce the normal heat at that point at least one degree in the fertile egg.

The eggs should be tested out again or the fourteenth day to detect any dead germs, which sometimes occur from low vitality or other causes.

A rotten egg in a heated incubator will exude foul gases which lower the hatchability of the fertile eggs in the same compartment. So eliminate the infertile eggs at beginning of second week of incubation, and go through the eggs again at end of the second week to remove all that do not show strong life germs inside the shells.

Always turn and cool the eggs before trimming the lamp or soiling the hands with any grease, for the embryo chicks are very sensitive to foreign oils on the shells.

Where the Pumpkin Came From.

Despite the fact that the pumpkin in all its forms has found its fullest meed of popular appreciation in the United States is by no means certain that the plant had its first home on this continent. Some authorities claim that it did and produce evidence to show that the aborigines of North America planted it among their maize.
 Others contend that it is of Asiatic origin and still others point out that pumpkins have been cultivated either as a curiosity or as an article of food in England since the year 1570. Even today we have not a monopoly of pumpkin culture. The orange hued orbs of joy are grown in various European countries, notably in France, where the market gardeners in the vicinity of Paris go to the trouble of sowing their pumpkin seeds in April, in a hotbed under glass and nurture them carefully until they are transplanted in May.

Regions having a semiarid climate can produce alfalfa successfully in nearly all types of soil and through a wide range of temperatures.

IMPURITIES IN WHEAT

Rye, Corn Cockle, Kinghead, and Vetch Frequently Cause Loss to the Farmer.

The result of recent tests by the department indicate that the presence in wheat of more than 2 per cent of what are known to millers as "inseparable impurities" lessens the value of the wheat for milling and baking purposes. This fact has been recognized in general commercial practice, for wheat containing a noticeable amount of impurities brings a lower price per bushel than other wheat.

The experiments conducted by the department are discussed in detail in Bulletin 328. They included tests of the effect of rye, kinghead, corn cockle, and wild vetch seed in wheat in various quantities. Of these substances, rye occurs the most frequently, being found in 83 per cent of the samples of hard winter wheat examined by the investigators and in 39 per cent of the spring wheat. In one instance a farmer's wheat crop contained 14.3 per cent of rye. On this account the farmer received 8 cents less per bushel than the normal price.

In regard to the quantity of rye necessary to exert an injurious effect upon the quality of wheat, there is a difference of opinion among millers.
 Some believe that when the percentage of rye is less than 5, the flour or bread is not noticeably affected, while others have held that 2 per cent is objectionable. The Government investigators found that 2 per cent or more of rye is sufficient to lower the quality of the bread.

In a considerable percentage of the wheat samples examined, the presence of rye was said to be due probably to the fact that the seed used in sowing the wheat contained rye.
 It is not infrequent for rye to scatter during harvest and to produce in this way a volunteer crop. If wheat is sown on land which was planted in rye the previous season, this volunteer crop of rye is harvested with the wheat. Partial winterkilling of the wheat increases the percentage of the rye, because the latter grain is not so susceptible to winterkilling as the former.

Corn cockle, although less frequent in wheat than rye, has a more injurious effect. The presence of even 1 per cent of this weed seed in wheat is likely to lower the price to the farmer, and certainly lowers the baking quality of the flour. Corn cockle is an exceedingly prolific annual weed, a single plant having been known to yield as high as 2,500 seed.
 Furthermore, this seed is of such shape and size that it is difficult to separate it from the wheat. The weed is widely distributed over the United States and is especially abundant in sections producing soft red winter, spring, and durum wheat.
 Every farmer, therefore, should strive to prevent its obtaining a foothold on his farm.

Corn cockle seed is particularly objectionable in wheat because it contains a poisonous element known as saponin or sapotoxin. This has been found at times to do considerable injury to young chickens and stock when fed wheat screenings.

Of the other impurities examined, kinghead, sometimes known as great ragweed, is frequently found in wheat in quantities as high as 3 or 4 per cent. Under such circumstances the flour contains black specks and the color and texture of the bread are seriously affected. Even as small an amount as 1 per cent of kinghead seed is noticeable in flour. Vetch seed also alters the color of the flour, giving it a yellowish appearance as well as a noticeable odor of vetch.

As has already been stated, the presence of any one of these impurities is very likely to reduce the price the farmer receives for his wheat. Not only is the price per bushel usually less, but there may also be a "dock-age" charge. Dockage is a trade term for the amount deducted on account of the presence of foreign material from the gross weight of the wheat. For example, if a load of 50 bushels of wheat is found to contain 2 pounds of foreign matter per bushel, 100 pounds is deducted from the lot for "dockage." The owner is paid, not for 50 bushels, but for 50 bushels less 100 pounds, or 48 bushels and 20 pounds of wheat.

Wheat Yields Less Following Corn Crop.

Yields of wheat at the Ohio Experiment Station were 10 bushels more to the acre where this crop followed soybeans, potatoes or oats than where it was seeded on land growing corn last year. In all these rotation tests the treatment of the soil as regards lime, manure and other fertilizers is the same. The wheat was all seeded at about the same date. The yield of wheat after corn was 28 bushels per acre, while the yields when wheat followed the other three crops was about 38 bushels.

Bull associations reduce the cost of the services of a pure-bred bull for the dairy herd. The average annual cost of service in a large number of associations investigated by the United States Department of Agriculture was $3.48 for each member.

The Department of Agriculture has a staff of more than 16,000 people devoting their whole time to the improvement of agriculture, the investigation of marketing problems, and the enforcement of Federal laws.
